Scope of This Section	Scope and Applicability of This Proposed Statement on Standards for Accounting and Review Services
.01 This section addresses the auditor’s responsibilities when engaged to review interim financial information under the conditions specified in this section. The term auditor is used throughout this section, not because the auditor is performing an audit but because the scope of this section is limited to a review of interim financial information performed by an auditor of the financial statements of the entity.	1. This proposed Statement on Standards for Accounting and Review Services (SSARS) addresses the accountant’s responsibilities when engaged to review financial statements. This proposed SSARS may also be applied, as necessary in the circumstances, to other historical financial information on which an accountant has been requested to issue a review report. (Ref: par. A1-A2)	The proposed SSARS appropriately refers to the “accountant.”
	2. The accountant is precluded from performing a review engagement if the accountant's independence is impaired for any reason. (Ref: par.	AU-C section 930, Interim Financial Information (AICPA, Professional Stand-

Paragraph .15 of AU-C section 200, Overall Objectives of the Independent Auditor and the Conduct of an Audit in Accordance With Generally Accepted Auditing Standards (AICPA, Professional Standards) , states “The auditor must be independent of the entity when performing an engagement in accordance with GAAS unless (a) GAAS provides otherwise or (b) the auditor is required by law or regulation to accept the engagement and report on the financial statements. When the auditor is not independent and neither (a) nor (b) are applicable, the auditor is precluded from issuing a report under GAAS.”

.04 This section is effective for reviews of interim financial information for interim periods of fiscal years beginning on or after December 15, 2012.	4. This proposed SSARS is effective for reviews of financial statements for periods ending on or after December 15, 2014.
Objective	Objectives
.05 The objective of the auditor when performing an engagement to review interim financial information is to obtain a basis for reporting whether the auditor is aware of any material modifications that should be made to the interim financial information for it to be in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework through performing limited procedures. (Ref: par. .A4–.A5)	5. The objective of the accountant when performing a review of financial statements is to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether the accountant is aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework, primarily through the performance of inquiry and analytical procedures. (Ref: par. A6–A11)	The proposed SSARS uses the term limited assurance in the objective and spells out the “limited procedures” as inquiry and analytical procedures.

.A2Appropriate financial reporting frameworks for condensed interim financial information may include, for example, Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 270, Interim Reporting, and Article 10 of Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Regulation S-X, with respect to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, or International Accounting Standard 34, Interim Financial Reporting, with respect to International Financial Reporting Standards issued by the International Accounting Standards Board. FASB ASC 270 outlines the application of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) to the determination of income when interim financial information is presented, provides for the use of estimated effective income tax rates, and specifies certain disclosure requirements for condensed interim financial information issued by public companies and may be adapted by nonissuers as a fair presentation framework for condensed interim financial information. In addition to FASB ASC 270, other FASB ASC topics also include disclosure requirements for interim financial information.		The proposed SSARS does not address condensed financial statements.

Mapping Document of AU-C section 930 to proposed Review SSARS

AU-C Section 930, Interim Financial Information	Proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements	Explanation for Differences
.A3 Audited financial statements are deemed to be readily available if a third-party user can obtain the financial statements without any further action by the entity (for example, financial statements on an entity’s web-site may be considered readily available, but being available upon request is not considered readily available).		Because there is no link between audited financial statements and the reviewed financial statements in the SSARSs, there is no need for the concept of “readily available.”
Objective (Ref: par. .05)	Objectives (Ref: par. 5)
.A4 The objective of a review of interim financial information differs significantly from that of an audit conducted in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. A review of interim financial information does not provide a basis for expressing an opinion about whether the interim financial information is presented fairly, in all material respects, in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.	A6. A review differs significantly from an audit of financial statements in which the auditor obtains a high level of assurance (expressed in the auditor’s report as obtaining reasonable assurance) that the financial statements are free of material misstatement. A review does not contemplate obtaining an understanding of the entity’s internal control; assessing fraud risk; testing accounting records by obtaining sufficient appropriate audit evidence through inspection, observation, confirmation, or the examination of source documents (for example, cancelled checks or bank images); or other procedures ordinarily performed in an audit. Accordingly, in a review, the accountant does not obtain assurance that he or she will become aware of all significant matters that would be disclosed in an audit. Therefore, a review is designed to obtain only limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether the accountant is aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements in order for the statements to be in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.	The SSARS condenses the application material from paragraphs .A4 and .A5 in AU-C section 930 into one paragraph.
.A5 A review, in contrast to an audit, is not designed to provide the auditor with a basis for obtaining reasonable assurance that the interim finan-

AU-C Section 930, Interim Financial Information	Proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements	Explanation for Differences
cial information is free from material misstatement. A review consists principally of performing analytical procedures and making inquiries of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters and does not contemplate (a) tests of accounting records through inspection, observation, or confirmation; (b) tests of controls to evaluate their effectiveness; (c) the obtainment of corroborating evidence in response to inquiries; or (d) the performance of certain other procedures ordinarily performed in an audit. A review may bring to the auditor’s attention significant findings or issues affecting the interim financial information, but it does not provide assurance that the auditor will become aware of all significant findings or issues that would be identified in an audit.
	Materiality
	A7. The accountant’s consideration of materiality is made in the context of the applicable financial reporting framework. Some financial reporting frameworks discuss the concept of materiality in the context of the preparation and presentation of financial statements. Although financial reporting frameworks may discuss materiality in different terms, they generally explain that <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• misstatements, including omissions, are considered to be material if they, individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements;</li> <li>• judgments about materiality are made in light of surrounding circumstances and are affected by the size or nature of a misstatement or a combination of both; and</li> <li>• judgments about matters that are material to users of the fi-</li> </ul>

AU-C Section 930, Interim Financial Information	Proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements	Explanation for Differences
	financial statements are based on a consideration of the common financial information needs of users as a group. The possible effect of misstatements on specific individual users, whose needs may vary widely, is not considered.
	A8. If present in the applicable financial reporting framework, a discussion of the concept of materiality provides a frame of reference to the accountant in determining, as required by paragraph 38, whether there are any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements in order for the statements to be in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. If the applicable financial reporting framework does not include a discussion of the concept of materiality, the characteristics referred to in paragraph A7 provide the accountant with such a frame of reference.
	A9. The accountant’s determination of materiality is a matter of professional judgment, and is affected by the accountant’s perception of the needs of the intended users of the financial statements. In this context, it is reasonable for the accountant to assume that users <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. have a reasonable knowledge of business and economic activities and accounting and a willingness to study the information in the financial statements with reasonable diligence;</li> <li>b. understand that financial statements are prepared, presented and reviewed to levels of materiality;</li> <li>c. recognize the uncertainties inherent in the measurement of amounts based on the use of estimates, judgment, and the consideration of future events; and</li> </ul>

	A10. The accountant’s judgment about what is material in relation to the financial statements as a whole is the same regardless of the level of assurance obtained by the accountant as a basis for expressing a conclusion on the financial statements.
	Revising Materiality
	A11. The accountant’s determination of materiality for the financial statements as a whole may need to be revised during the engagement as a result of <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A change in the circumstances that occurred during the review (for example, a decision to dispose of a major part of the entity’s business).</li> <li>• New information, or a change in the accountant’s understanding of the entity and its environment as a result of performing review procedures (for example, if during the review it appears though actual financial results are likely to be substantially different from anticipated period-end financial results that were used initially to consider materiality for the financial statements</li> </ul>

Agreement on Engagement Terms (Ref: par. .10)	Agreement on Engagement Terms (Ref: par. 9-10)
	A13. Both management and the accountant have an interest in documenting the agreed-upon terms of the review engagement before the commencement of the review engagement to help avoid misunderstandings with respect to the review engagement. For example, it reduces the risk that management may inappropriately rely on or expect the accountant to protect management against certain risks or to perform certain functions including those that are management's responsibility.
	A14. The roles of management and those charged with governance in agreeing upon the terms of the review engagement for the entity depend on the governance structure of the entity and relevant law or regulation. Depending on the entity's structure, the agreement may be with management, those charged with governance, or both. When the agreement on the terms of engagement is only with those charged with governance, nonetheless in accordance with paragraph 7c, the accountant is required to obtain management's agreement that it acknowledges

	Documenting the Understanding With Management (Ref: par. 9 and 48)
	A15. A contract is another suitable form of written communication. The understanding with management regarding the services to be performed for review engagements is required by paragraph 9 to be in a documented form, and, accordingly, a verbal understanding is insufficient. An engagement letter is the most common and usually the most convenient method for documenting the understanding with management regarding the services to be performed for review engagements.

	A24. The accountant's understanding of the entity's business encompasses a general understanding of the client's organization; its operating characteristics; and the nature of its assets, liabilities, revenues, and expenses.
.A7As required by section 315, Understanding the Entity and Its Environment and Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement, the auditor who has audited the entity's financial statements for one or more annual periods would have obtained an understanding of the entity and its environment, including its internal control as it relates to the preparation and fair presentation of annual financial information, that was sufficient to conduct the audit. Internal control over the preparation and fair presentation of interim financial information may differ from internal control over the preparation and fair presentation of annual financial statements because certain accounting principles and practices used for interim financial information may differ from those used for the preparation of annual financial statements (for example, the use of estimated effective income tax rates for the preparation of interim financial information).
.A8The auditor is unable to complete the review if the entity's internal control appears to contain deficiencies so significant that it would be impracticable for the auditor to effectively perform review procedures that would achieve the objective stated in paragraph .05. Paragraph .23 addresses the auditor's responsibilities when the review cannot be completed.

AU-C Section 930, Interim Financial Information	Proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements	Explanation for Differences
.A9In an initial review of interim financial information, when performing the procedures for a new client required by paragraph .07, the auditor also may consider requesting access to review the predecessor auditor’s documentation related to reviews of an interim period or interim periods in the prior year. However, the inquiries made and analytical procedures performed, or other procedures performed in the initial review, and the conclusions reached are solely the responsibility of the auditor. Therefore, the auditor is not permitted to make reference to the report or work of the predecessor auditor as the basis, in part, for the auditor’s own report.
.A10 If the predecessor auditor does not respond to the auditor’s inquiries or does not allow the auditor to review the predecessor auditor’s documentation, the auditor may inquire why and use alternative procedures to obtain the understanding required by paragraph .11.

However, in addition to analytical procedures and inquiries, in certain circumstances and based on the accountant’s professional judgment, the accountant may perform procedures ordinarily performed in an audit. In such instances, the engagement remains a review and the accountant is not required to perform an audit of the financial statements.

Inquiry Concerning an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern (Ref: par. .16)
.A23 A review of interim financial information is not designed to identify conditions or events that may indicate substantial doubt about an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern. However, conditions or events that may cast substantial doubt on the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern may have existed at the date of the prior period financial statements or may be identified as a result of inquiries of management or in the course of performing other review procedures. When performing a review engagement, the auditor is not required to obtain evidence in support of the information that mitigates the effects of the conditions and events.
.A24 Section 570, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern (AICPA, Professional Standards), may provide useful guidance to the auditor when considering whether there is adequate and appropriate disclosure in the interim financial information about the entity’s possible inability to continue as a going concern. <sup>fn4</sup>

.A27 As noted in paragraph .A2, appropriate financial reporting frameworks for interim financial information may include, for example, FASB ASC 270 and Article 10 of SEC Regulation S-X. FASB ASC 270 describes the applicability of GAAP to interim financial information and indicates the types of disclosures necessary to report on a meaningful basis for a period of less than one full year. FASB ASC 270-10-45-16 provides guidance on assessing materiality in interim periods. For example, it states that in determining materiality for the purpose of reporting the correction of an error, amounts shall be related to the estimated income for the full fiscal year and also to the effect on the trend of earnings. Further, Rule 10-01(a)(5) of SEC Regulation S-X states the following: The interim financial information shall include disclosures either on the face of the financial statements or in accompanying footnotes sufficient

Registrants may presume that users of the interim financial information have read or have access to the audited financial statements for the preceding fiscal year and that the adequacy of additional disclosure needed for a fair presentation, except in regard to material contingencies may be determined in that context. Accordingly, footnote disclosure which would substantially duplicate the disclosure contained in the most recent annual report to security holders or latest audited financial statements, such as a statement of significant accounting policies and practices, details of accounts which have not changed significantly in amount or composition since the end of the most recently completed fiscal year, and detailed disclosures prescribed by Rule 4-08 of this Regulation, may be omitted. However, disclosure shall be provided where events subsequent to the end of the most recent fiscal year have occurred which have a material impact on the registrant. Disclosures should encompass for example, significant changes since the end of the most recently completed fiscal year in such items as: accounting principles and practices; estimates inherent in the preparation of the financial statements; status of long-term contracts; capitalization including significant new borrowings or modification of existing financing arrangements; and the reporting entity resulting from business combinations or dispositions. 	A44. In some cases, management may include in the written representations qualifying language to the effect that representations are made to the best of its knowledge and belief. It is reasonable for the accountant to accept such wording if, in the accountant’s judgment, the representations are being made by those with appropriate responsibilities and knowledge of the matters included in the representations. 	Specific Written Representations (Ref: par. 32)
	A45. Review evidence obtained during the review that management has acknowledged the responsibilities referred to in paragraphs 32a and 32b is not sufficient without obtaining representation from management that it believes that it has fulfilled those responsibilities. This is because the accountant is not able to judge solely on other review evidence whether management has prepared and fairly presented the financial statements and provided information to the accountant on the basis of the agreed acknowledgement and understanding of its responsibilities. 	A47. Because the preparation of financial statements requires management to adjust the financial statements to correct material misstatements, the accountant is required to request management to provide a written representation about uncorrected misstatements. 	A50. The written representations cover all periods referred to in the accountant’s review report because management needs to reaffirm that the written representations it previously made with respect to the prior periods remain appropriate. The accountant and management may agree to a form of written representation that updates written representations relating to the prior periods by addressing whether there are any changes to such written representations and, if so, what they are.	From paragraph .A25 of AU-C section 580.
	A51. Situations may arise in which current management was not present during all periods referred to in the accountant’s review report. Such persons may assert that they are not in a position to provide some or all of the written representations because they were not in place during the period. This fact, however, does not diminish such persons’ responsibilities for the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, the requirement for the accountant to request from them written representations that cover the whole of the relevant period(s) still applies.	From paragraph .A26 of AU-C section 580.

	A52. Occasionally, circumstances may prevent management from signing the representation letter and returning it to the accountant on the date of the accountant’s review report. In those circumstances, the accountant may accept management’s oral confirmation, on or before the date of the accountant’s review report, that management has reviewed the final representation letter and will sign the representation letter without exception as of the date of the accountant’s review report. Possession of the signed management representation letter prior to releasing the accountant’s review report is necessary because paragraph 34 requires that the representations be in the form of a written letter from management. Furthermore, when there are delays in releasing the report, a fact may become known to the accountant that, had it been known to the accountant at the date of the accountant’s review report, might affect the accountant’s review report and result in the need for updated representations.	From paragraph .A27 of AU-C section 580.

.A37 The objective of a review of interim financial information differs significantly from that of an audit. Therefore, any communication that the auditor may make about the quality, not just the acceptability, of the entity’s accounting principles as applied to its interim financial reporting generally is limited to the effect of significant events, transactions, and changes in accounting estimates that the auditor considered when conducting the review of interim financial information. Further, interim review procedures do not provide assurance that the auditor will become aware of all matters that might affect the auditor’s judgments about the quality of the entity’s accounting principles that would be identified as a result of an audit.
.A38 The communications required by paragraphs .23–.28 may be oral or written. The communications are most helpful when made on a sufficiently timely basis to enable management or those charged with governance to take appropriate action.
	A79. The communication of matters involving identified or suspected noncompliance may describe the act of identified or suspected non-compliance, the circumstances of its occurrence, and the effect on the financial statements. The accountant may reach agreement in advance with management and those charged with governance, if applicable, on the nature and amount of matters that would be considered not material and, thus, need not be communicated.

The ongoing reporting requirements of these exchanges are substantially similar to the reporting required of issuers, wherein entities trading securities on such exchanges are required to engage auditors to review their interim financial information but are not required to include written review reports with interim financial information provided to qualified investors. Nonetheless, in accordance with paragraph .29, the auditor’s report on the review of the interim financial information is required to be in writing.

	Accountant’s Review Report on Financial Statements Prepared in Accordance with a Special Purpose Framework (Ref.: par. 38-43)
	A71. Terms such as balance sheet, statement of financial position, statement of income, statement of operations, and statement of cash flows, or similar unmodified titles, are generally understood to be applicable only to financial statements that are intended to present financial position, results of operations, or cash flows in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, the accountant is required by paragraph 38(a) to consider whether the financial statements are suitably titled, for example <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• a cash basis financial statement might be titled Statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements.</li> </ul>	From paragraph .A17 of AU-C section 800.

AU-C Section 930, Interim Financial Information	Proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements	Explanation for Differences

	A72. The description of how the special purpose framework differs from GAAP ordinarily only includes the material differences between GAAP and the special purpose framework. For example, if several items are accounted for differently in accordance with the special purpose framework than they would be in accordance with U.S. GAAP, but only the differences in how depreciation is calculated are material, a brief description of the depreciation differences is all that would be necessary, and the remaining differences need not be described. The differences need not be quantified.	From paragraph .A18 of AU-C section 800.
	A73. Financial statements prepared when applying a special purpose framework are not considered appropriate in form unless the financial statements include informative disclosures similar to those required by GAAP if the financial statements contain items that are the same as, or similar to, those in financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP.

AU-C Section 930, Interim Financial Information	Proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements	Explanation for Differences
	A74. When the financial statements are prepared in accordance with a regulatory or contractual basis of accounting, the accountant is required by paragraph 41 to describe the purpose for which the financial statements are prepared or refer to a note in the financial statements that contains that information. This is necessary to avoid misunderstandings when the financial statements are used for purposes other than those for which they were intended. The note to the financial statements may also describe any significant interpretations of the contract on which the financial statements are based.	From paragraph .A24 of AU-C section 800.
	A75. When use of the accountant’s review report is restricted, the intended users are the specified parties. The restriction on use of the accountant’s review report is necessary due to the nature of the report and the potential for the report to be misunderstood when taken out of the context in which it was intended to be used. For example, special purpose financial statements prepared in accordance with a contractual basis of accounting are developed for and directed only to the parties to the contract or agreement. Paragraphs 16-17 of the proposed SSARS Review of Financial Statements – Special Considerations addresses adding other parties as specified parties.

For example, the disclosures considered necessary for interim financial information presented in accordance with the minimum disclosure requirements of FASB ASC 270-10-50-1, which is applicable to condensed financial statements of public companies, are considerably less extensive than those necessary for annual financial statements that present financial position, results of operations, and cash flows in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. FASB ASC 270-10-50-3 states that a presumption exists that users of summarized interim financial data will have read the latest published annual report, including the financial disclosures required by GAAP and management’s commentary concerning the annual financial results, and that the summarized interim data will be viewed in that context. agement is responsible for clearly marking the information as unaudited in the note.

.A51 Because the interim financial information has not been audited and is not required for the audited financial statements to be fairly stated in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework, the auditor ordinarily need not modify the auditor’s report on the audited financial statements to refer to the interim financial information accompanying the audited financial statements, including when the auditor has performed a review in accordance with this section.
Documentation (Ref: par. .42–.43)	Review Documentation (Ref: par. 48)
.A52 The auditor may find the guidance in section 230, Audit Documentation , useful in determining the form and content of the review documentation, including guidance on the timing of the final assembly of the engagement documentation.
	Documentation of the Review Procedures Performed and Review Evidence Obtained (Ref: par. 48)
	A83. Review documentation may be recorded on paper or on electronic or other media.
	A84. The accountant need not include in review documentation superseded drafts of working papers and financial statements, notes that reflect incomplete or preliminary thinking, previous copies of documents corrected for typographical or other errors, and duplicates of

	A85. The accountant is not precluded from supporting the review report by other means in addition to the review documentation. Such other means might include written documentation contained in other engagement files (for example, compilation or nonattest services) or quality control files (for example, consultation files) and, in limited situations, oral explanations. On their own, oral explanations by the accountant do not represent adequate support for the work the accountant performed or conclusions reached, but may be used to explain or clarify information contained in the review documentation.
	A86. In the case of a review where the engagement partner performs all of the review work, the engagement partner is still required to comply with the overriding requirement in paragraph 48 to prepare review documentation that can be understood by an experienced accountant, as the review documentation may be subject to review by external parties.
.A53 Examples of findings or issues that, in the auditor’s judgment, are significant include the results of review procedures that indicate that the interim financial information could be materially misstated, including actions taken to address such findings, and the basis for the final conclusions reached.	A87. Findings or issues that, in the accountant’s professional judgment are significant may include the results of review procedures that indicate that the financial statements could be materially misstated, including actions taken to address such findings, and the basis for the final conclusions.
